PLURALIS™

DESIGN BY KASPER SALTO, 2016

The Pluralis™ table is available in several varieties. The base is crafted in pressure die casted aluminium and the rails are extruded aluminium. The table top comes in a selection of laminates, veneers and linoleum. The table is mounted with glides. The Danish designer Kasper Salto has designed the Pluralis table series for Republic of Fritz Hansen. Pluralis is a table that's open to possibilities. As its Latin name implies, Pluralis pertains to more than one. Meaning, more than one type of situation, setting, occasion or meeting. Designed for the contemporary work culture, Pluralis can adapt to any kind of communication exchange you have in mind.

Surfaces:

The table surface selections are mauve brown linoleum, lava grey or white laminate and oak or walnut veneer.

The edges of the table top are rounded to give the table top a sophisticated finish.

The base is available in a polished aluminium or powder coated in black IGP lacquer.

Accessories:

Integrated cable management system.
